I have some doubt in Java and MYSQL. 1) When we select query, while inserting into database, if the table have any primary key, then the query is executed on basis of primary key column or the other column. If not exist, then, in that case also it takes the order on basis of some column. 2)In MySQL if we see in properties of query, there is an order property is it comes first then it will executes first. and if not exist, then it finds in the table. But, how this works? My question is how we get the order of query? If some one knows, please help me. A: 1) If you are using Statement.executeQuery()(or executeUpdate()), order of the statement will be evaluated only if order by clause is specified. If not specified, by default is undefined. When executeQuery(), the query will be evaluated in the following order: If order by clause is present in the query, it will be evaluated, and if the query has order by specified columns, the order of those columns will be considered. If the query has no order by clause, the order of the result set will be undefined. If the query is not a SELECT statement, it is ignored. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates play Sunday afternoon, they'll be wearing their classic throwback jerseys. But what you probably didn't know, aside from the white "B"s and black "P"s and colorful, 70s-style stripes and numbers, is that the jerseys are on the backs of the players' jerseys. There are no back patches, as there are on many other jerseys. Don't know why. I'm not entirely sure. What's also pretty interesting is that there aren't any stains on the back of the Cardinals jersey — at least not yet, anyway. The Cardinals uniform seems to be new to the Pittsburgh area./* * Copyright (C) 2012 Open Source Robotics Foundation * * Licensed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 (the "License"); * you may not use this file except in compliance with the License. * You may obtain a copy of the License at * * * * Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, software * distributed under the License is distributed on an "AS IS" BASIS, * WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied. b7e8fdf5c8
